After suffering a near-death experience, Neesa Avery (JULIN JEAN) has literally been to Hell and back. When she and a group of friends (KATIE BOSACKI, CAMERON DEAN STEWART, TAYLOR TIPPINS, JUSTIN ARNOLD) discover an ancient dice game hidden behind a wall in an abandoned WWII factory, they unleash the powerful demon Knucklebones (TOM ZEMBROD) bent on taking them out one by one. The kids attempt to banish the demon with the help of a local homeless squatter (JASON DUFFY KLEMM), who, having had a previous run-in with the demon, further explains the rules of the dice game. As the kids attempt to finish the "game" it becomes clear Knucklebones has special plans for Neesa and, having met her briefly in Hell, is saving her for last.
